U.S. Planes Blast 14 Red MIGs In Korea

3 Communist Platoons
Fire On U.N. Lines;
Artillery Halts Attack

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — U. S. jet pilots today destroyed or damaged 14 Russian-made Communist MIG-15s in four clashes over northwest Korea.

Comparatively slow F-84 Thunderjets damaged two of eight swept-wing MIGs that attacked them while they were cutting railroad tracks in the Sonchon area Monday afternoon. Escaped Damage

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said the Thunderjets escaped damage. In three morning flights, the Fifth Air Force said U. S. F-86 Sabre jets shot down three Red jets, probably destroyed two and damaged seven. Allied losses if any are reported weekly.

Only small patrol actions were reported across the 155-mile ground front.

Fired On U. N. Positions

The U. S. Eighth Army said three Communist platoons fired on U. N. positions northwest of the punch bowl on the eastern front Sunday, but the Reds withdrew under heavy Allied artillery fire.

In the first air battle Monday 32 F-86 Sabre jets encountered about 30 MIGs trying to break up a formation of Allied fighter-bombers on a rail cutting mission. The Sabres shot down one Red warplane, probably destroyed another and damaged two.

Raced to Rescue

Just before noon 18 Sabre jets raced to the rescue of another flight of fighter-bombers on being attacked by 44 MIGs. A series of dogfights raged between 30,000 and 20,000 feet, with one MIG destroyed, one probably destroyed and one damaged.

The third air battle was a 35-minute melee that swirled south of Sinuiju, just south of the Yalu river border of Manchuria.

The American pilots shot down one MIG and damaged four others.

Truce Talkers May Try Secret POW Debates

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—Allied and Communist truce negotiators huddled for three hours today discussing possible secret talks on how to exchange prisoners of war. A U. N. spokesman said "we almost came to agreement."

"We decided to talk about it for only 20 minutes tomorrow," said Col. George W. Hickman. He reported most of Monday's session was spent debating "limitations that might be placed on each side during an executive session."

The U. N. proposed secret negotiations Sunday in a move to speed agreement on a Korean armistice. As a preliminary step the Allies ordered an immediate partial news blackout on the prisoner talks.

An official allied spokesman said U. N. negotiators felt preliminary discussions concerning off-the-record sessions should "be considered for the time being at least in a quasi-confidential status."

Both sides have indicated unofficially that off-the-record negotiations might lead to a compromise agreement on the thorny issue of whether prisoners should be given the right to reject repatriation. This is the only issue blocking agreement on prisoner exchange.

Fire Razes Coop; 400 Chickens Lost

A chicken house and 400 chickens were consumed in a fire of undetermined origin early this morning on the Gas Tax Rd. in Hanover Township.

Salem firemen, called to the scene at 2:25 a. m. Sunday arrived too late to prevent the total loss of building and chickens. The blaze occurred on the same property where last April a disastrous fire took the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jenkins Jr. and their eight-month-old son Gregory.

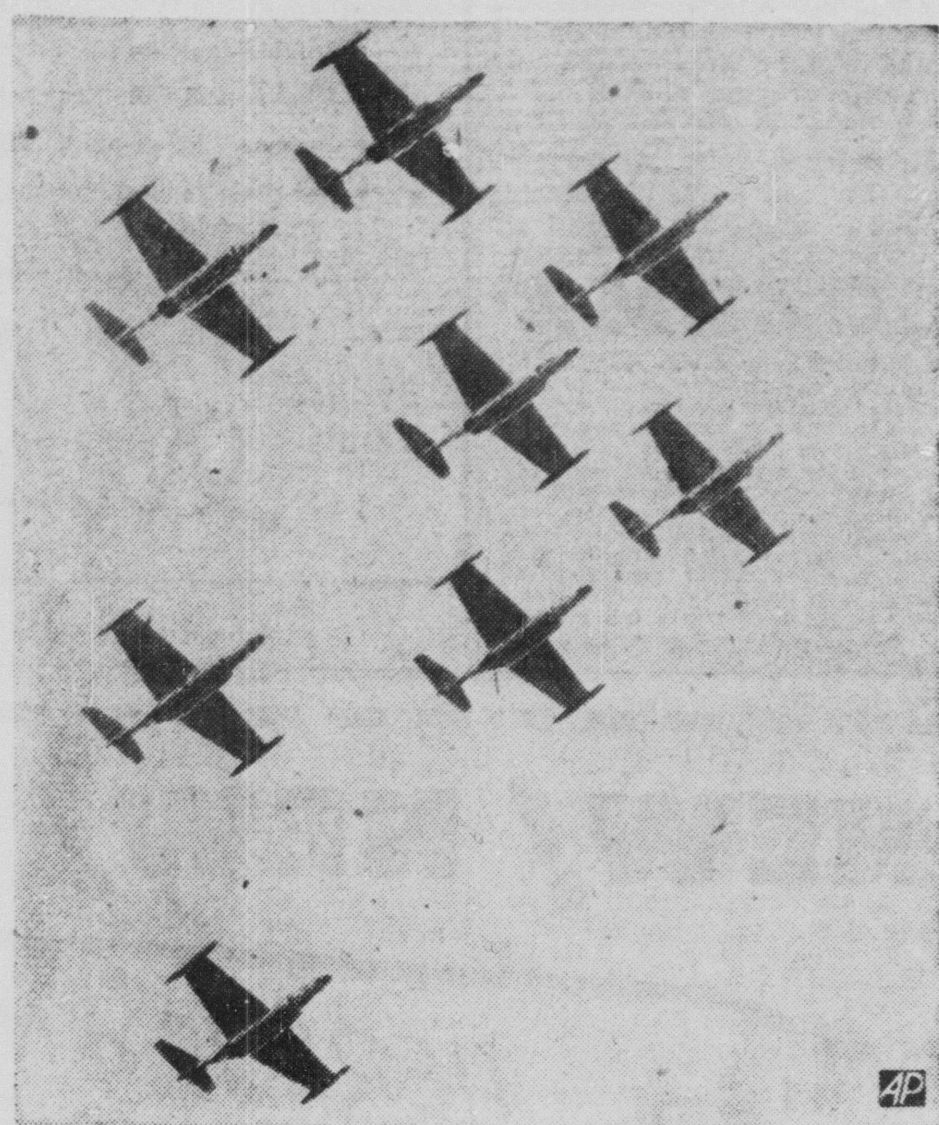

Frank Jenkins Sr., father of the man who lost his life in the fire resides on the property and owned the coop and chickens.

Guilford Residents No Longer Oppose City Usage Of Water

A. W. Marion, director of the Department of Natural Resources, told Salem Water Superintendent B. V. BeVier at a conference in Columbus Friday that Guilford Lake residents had withdrawn their objections to the city's usage of surplus water from the lake.

Mr. BeVier said that Mr. Marion had informed him that the protesting residents voiced no opposition when they met with Mr. Marion in Columbus last Tuesday to the contract being drawn up between the city and the state.

The conference Friday, attended also by representatives of the attorney general's office, was called primarily to work out further details prior to the signing of the contract. Mr. BeVier stated that the major points of the agreement had been settled. Guilford Lake residents had objected to the state's intention to provide the city with water for its East Cold Run reservoir because they feared that the lake level would be lowered in the event of a drought. However, they were assured that the city will be permitted to use only surplus water.

The agreement between the state and Salem is the first of its kind recorded in Ohio. Industry gets all the other water which the state has to sell from reservoirs and canals.

Anthrax Epidemic Blamed On Bone Meal

COLUMBUS (AP)—The State Health Director said today he had "positive confirmation" that the outbreak of anthrax among hogs in Ohio was caused by bone meal imported from Belgium.

Dr. John D. Porterfield said this confirmed previous laboratory tests by the health department.

The bone meal was imported from Belgium by the Buchsied Division of Inland Products Co. of Columbus. All bone meal distributed by this company has been recalled. Dr. Porterfield said, and the company has cooperated fully in helping to stem spread of the disease.

The health director said that in every case where the disease had occurred in Ohio, the diseased bone meal had been found.

Over 100,000 Servicemen Ready For Mock Battles

FORT HOOD, Tex. (AP) — At one minute after midnight tonight the nation's biggest armed forces maneuvers since World War II began.

From then until April 11, huge masses of men — 115,000 to 120,000 — will undergo realistic combat experiences designed to make them better warriors.

Exercise Long Horn is expected to bring into play some war lessons learned in Korea.

Battle situations will be allowed to develop pretty much as if the 82nd Airborne Division from Fort Bragg, N. C.—the backbone of the "aggressors"—were actually a foreign force invading the U. S.

The 82nd (Dixie) Division paratroopers have been making practice air drops to prepare themselves for their attack which will set the maneuvers off.

Taft, Stassen, Warren Stump In Wisconsin

State GOP Convention
To Test Ike's Appeal
On Republican "Pros"

(By The Associated Press)
While Wisconsin voters settled back today to a week of being wooed by presidential hopefuls, the Nebraska electorate heard talk of a "write-in" drive.

Both states hold primaries April 1 and, as the final campaign week, began, this was the picture:

In Wisconsin, Republicans had a choice among three candidates for the presidential nomination—Sen. Taft of Ohio, Gov. Earl Warren of California and former Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota. All three were stumping for their slates of 30 convention delegates.

Gen. Eisenhower's name is not on the Wisconsin ballot and the state does not count write-ins.

Choose Between 2 Tickets

Democrats in Wisconsin choose between two 28-vote delegate tickets, both claiming to represent President Truman. But Sen. Estes Kefauver was waging a battle he hopes will sweep the board.

In Nebraska, Rep. Buffett's return home from Washington was expected to open a write-in campaign today for Taft. Eisenhower supporters already have asked newspapers to show how write-ins are cast.

Nebraska's Republican primary ballot lists only Stassen and Mrs. Mary Kenny, who favors Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The Democratic race is between Kefauver and Sen. Robert Kerr of Oklahoma.

Meanwhile, the political pot continued to simmer elsewhere: Washington, D. C.

Backs Eisenhower

The Washington Post, which hasn't backed a presidential candidate in 20 years, announced editorially today: "We stand for Eisenhower."

John Foster Dulles, Republican who put over the Japanese peace treaty for President Truman, was reported cutting his ties with the administration. The treaty, principally drafted by Dulles, won Senate approval Thursday. Dulles reportedly was bowing out so he can be free to criticize administration foreign policy.

Test Vote Appeal

Jack Bell, Associated Press political writer, reported Eisenhower's popular vote appeal with Republican "pros" will be tested within the next 10 days at conventions in Maine, Tennessee, Iowa and Michigan.

A total of 108 delegates will be chosen in the four states. Conventions generally are run by active politicians, whereas voters have a direct voice in primaries.

Little Rock, Ark.
Gen. MacArthur ducked political talk and spoke nostalgically of recapturing his youth during a five-hour visit yesterday to the city of his birth.

Dayton, Tenn.
Taft picked up two more Tennessee GOP delegates, giving him 13 of the state's 20, at a district convention here yesterday.

Oklahoma Pastor To Address Rotary

Dr. William Alexander, nationally known pastor of the First Christian Church of Oklahoma City, will address Rotary Club members Tuesday noon in the Memorial Building.

Dr. Alexander, credited with having developed one of the finest youth programs in the Southwest, has a congregation that numbers around 3,000. Active in civic affairs, he got the largest Republican vote in the history of his state in 1951 when he ran for senator.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis and Lions clubs will be invited to attend. E. M. Stephenson is program chairman.

Truman, Wilson Meet On Strike

Steel Walkout Called
"Frightful" Prospect

KEY WEST (AP) — President Truman and Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson waded into the steel controversy today with Wilson declaring a steel strike "would have frightful results on the mobilization program and the economy as a whole."

Wilson flew down here from Washington last night with a recommendation by the Wage Stabilization Board that the CIO United Steel Workers be allowed a three-installment wage increase that will amount to 17½ cents an hour by Jan. 1, and other benefits.

Coupled with this was the estimate by steel manufacturers that they will have to raise their prices by possibly $12 a ton to pay for the wage board's proposals.

In Washington, Sen. Maybank (D-SC) said Congress may refuse to extend economic controls if the administration lifts the bars on inflation by allowing wage and price increases in the steel industry.

Maybank, chairman of both the Senate Banking Committee and the Senate-House Defense Production Committee, told a reporter he would invite Wilson to Capitol Hill as soon as he returned from Key West to explain the steel situation.

Wilson told reporters he had a series of matters to lay before the President, in addition to the steel situation.

"I don't know yet how it can be settled," Wilson said at one point. "I am neither pessimistic nor optimistic. This is still in the exploratory stage."

Accessories Stolen From Three Cars

Three minor thefts of automobile accessories were reported to police over the weekend.

Two hub caps were stolen from a car owned by Robert Bielski of 458 Washington St. sometime Saturday night while it was parked in front of his home.

Albert E. Kent of 277 Ohio Ave. told police that someone stole a hub cap from his car between the hours of 7:30 p. m. to 10:30 p. m. Friday while it was parked on S. Broadway.

Ralph E. Bartholow of the Salem-Leetonia Rd. reported the theft of two fender skirts from his auto sometime Saturday night while it was parked at the rear of his radio shop on E. Second St.

South Works At Grim Task Of Burying Tornado Dead

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The living worked grimly at burying and rebuilding today in six tornado-torn, flood-afflicted southern states in which 233 died and 1,100 were hurt.

In small, partly-wrecked churches throughout the region yesterday half-dazed people clustered for funeral services—sometimes for whole families.

The normal Sabbath still of small towns was broken often by the raucous chugging of bulldozers laboring at the debris, the rattle of trucks and the clumping of boards being piled.

Survivors of the disastrous weekend picked at what was left of their homes searching for something salvageable, often under the idle gaze of hundreds of sightseers who jammed the stricken areas.

Count Incomplete

At last count, and it was at best incomplete and often times inaccurate, the death toll stood at Arkansas, 134; Tennessee, 59; Mississippi, 11; Kentucky, 8; Missouri, 16; and Alabama, 5.

Arkansas alone reported 711 injured and 1,452 families homeless, affected by the terrible winds.

In basements of churches, schools and armories, Salvation Army and Red Cross workers struggled manfully to feed, house and clothe those left desolate.

An accurate estimate of damage was impossible but it was expected to reach into the tens of millions of dollars.

Near Exhaustion

In hospitals doctors and nurses, eyes red-rimmed from lack of sleep, worked to near exhaustion to aid the injured. Hospital capacity was strained to the breaking point.

Ridgway Says World Peace At Stake In Korean Truce Talks

TOKYO (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway says the stakes in the Korean armistice talks are world peace.

The Allied Supreme Commander said in an interview he prays constantly that Americans will be extremely patient while United Nations command negotiators withstand Communist deceit and stalling.

Ridgway conceded that the prolonged truce talks—now in their ninth month—tried one's patience, but added:

"Patience is a necessity. The stakes in this case are not only the lives of Allied prisoners in Communist hands, but world peace itself. I think our people realize the situation in which we find ourselves today. A situation so potentially grave calls for the most soul-searching objective analysis of what you intend to do and what your objectives are.

"Far reaching, almost incalculable consequences could flow from acts which some of our people advocate in the current situation. But such suggestions do not bespeak any sort of objective analysis."

The 57-year-old commander described as "most disturbing" Russia's charges that the Allies are waging germ warfare in North Korea—charges denied repeatedly by high U. S. officials.

It is completely in accord with the deliberate and repeated employment of falsehoods of Soviet leaders," Ridgway said. "It is all a part of the big lie. The result is more hatred and more animosity and less chance of getting the world situation straightened out."

Truman Seeks 3-Year Boost In Immigration

$4,300,000 Ordered
To form Iron Curtain
Escapees Into NATO

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — President Truman today asked Congress to open immigration gates to admit 300,000 additional Europeans during the next three years. Many escaped "victims of Communist tyranny" would be included.

This request highlighted a 4,000-word, three-point program drafted at the little White House asking Congress to:

"(1) Provide aid for the unfortunate victims of oppression who are escaping from Communist tyranny behind the Iron Curtain.

"(2) Continue our participation in the international effort now being made to assist in the migration and resettlement throughout the world of a substantial number of persons from the overpopulated areas of western Europe.

Authorize Immigration
"(3) Authorize additional immigration into this country, on a limited basis, to aid in alleviating the problems created by Communist tyranny and overpopulation in western Europe."

No estimate of the cost of the three-year "emergency period" immigration was contained in the message. It suggested immigrants be brought in at the rate of 100,000 a year.

The message followed a presidential directive yesterday allocating $4,300,000 of Mutual Security funds for immediate use to form able-bodied men and specialists escaping from behind the "Iron Curtain" into elements of the Eisenhower military forces supporting the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Slip Across Border

He said as a result of repressive measures, "some 15,000 to 20,000 Germans are slipping over the border from the Soviet zone of Germany and crossing into Western Germany every month."

The 100,000-a-year new immigrants would include (1) 7,000 religious and political refugees from Communism in eastern Europe (2) 7,500 Greek nationals from Greece; (3) 7,500 Dutch from the Netherlands (4) 39,000 Italians from Italy and Trieste and (5) 39,000 Germans and persons of German ethnic origin.

"While the admission of these particular groups should constitute a temporary program of limited duration," the President said, "it could well be fitted into desirable permanent changes in our present quota system if the Congress finds itself able to make such changes at this session."

Rogers Man Killed In Mining Mishap

A Rogers man was killed instantly a 9 this morning when a bulldozer blade struck him in the head at the Marshall Mining Co.'s Padurean Mine on the Poland-Springfield Rd., L. E. Brauning-er of Youngstown, the company's secretary-treasurer, said today.

Hiram Bruch was changing bolts in the bulldozer blade when the raised blade fell and fatally injured him. A physician said he died of a fracture skull.

Finnegan Given 2 Years

Store Wrecked, Woman Survives

Tornado Devastates
Her Town, Judsonia

JUDSONIA, Ark. (AP)—The small, graying woman in the army field jacket and slacks gestured helplessly at the rubble which once was a large general merchandise store. With a grim smile she said:

"I'm one of the lucky ones. I've got something left—all my family."

She was Mrs. E. C. Meacham, wife of one of the partners in the Meacham and Donnell General Store in this northeast Arkansas town flattened by Friday's tornado.

Like many others who escaped death or serious injury, she was helping "dig out from under." Bulldozers, cranes and trucks from the highway department were removing debris from main street.

Mrs. Meacham was at home when the whirling winds wrecked Judsonia, a town of 1,200.

At Home During Storm

"Mary—that's my daughter—and I were at home when the storm hit," she recalled. "It seemed like it lasted half an hour, but it couldn't have been more than four or five minutes, I guess."

"We were in the living room. I opened the door to go out in the hall. There wasn't any hall. I went back in the living room and me and Mary just sat there and prayed. All the house was destroyed except the living room and part of the kitchen."

One of the volunteer salvage workers interrupted and handed her a packet of invoices found in the ruins of the store. That reminded her of something else:

"You know, sometime Friday night while we were out trying to help with the dead and injured, somebody dug around in there and found the cash register. They got $150 or $200 out of one of the drawers before the soldiers saw them and ran them off. There's all kinds of people in this old world."

National Guard Patrols

National guardsmen still were patrolling the disaster area today to guard against scavengers.

Miraculously, no one was killed when the general store collapsed.

"My husband and Mrs. Mary

Ola Johnson were in the store when it hit," Mrs. Meacham said. "They hunkered down behind a counter first, then they got in the vault."

The huge vault withstood the impact when all four brick walls gave way and ceiling plummeted down. Meacham and Mrs. Johnson crawled out unhurt.

Mrs. Meacham could smile at her own troubles, but she couldn't keep the tears from her eyes as she told of working at the disaster center set up at the Methodist Church.

"They brought in this little fellow. He had the prettiest, blond curly hair. He couldn't have been any bigger than this," she said as she spread her hands about three and a half feet apart.

"We thought maybe we could help him. I stretched him out on table. But he was already dead. His little shoes were almost torn off his feet. It just breaks your heart."

Farouk Dissolves Egypt Lower House

CAIRO (AP)—King Farouk dissolved parliament's Wafdist-dominated lower house today and called a new general election May 18. The royal action was requested by the cabinet of independent Prime Minister Ahmed Pasha.

Farouk's decree also ordered the new Chamber of Deputies to meet on May 31.

The dissolution did not affect the senate, which also is dominated by the anti-British Wafd faction. There was speculation, however, that the government might soon request Farouk to make changes in the senate membership to remove this Wafd majority. Only three-fifths of the senators are elected. The rest are appointed by the king.

Interior Minister Ahmed Maraghy Bey told newsmen no provision had been made yet for the lifting of martial law, which was clamped on Egypt on Jan. 26 after the disastrous riots in Cairo.

What's Your Notion of Magnificent Motion?

WE'LL admit that we're taking in a lot of territory when we use a word with the definition shown above.

But no lesser term can do justice to all the things that make a Buick such a joy to drive and to own.

Splendor and sumptuous adornment you'll certainly find in its rich interior—grandeur you'll certainly find in the mighty flow of its power.

But all this is only background for what is accurately termed its Million Dollar Ride.

Yes, sir, magnificent is the word for this majestic beauty in motion.

There's an earth-hugging, mile-skimming feel to it, as it bullets along the highway.

It holds a straight course without weave or wander—seems to snug down to the road on curves.

A massive X-braced frame gives it solidity. A torque-tube firms its keel. End-sway and side-roll are neutralized. The engine is Hi-Poised mounted on rubber pillows—and big, soft-acting coil springs on all four wheels soak up the jars and jolts, float you over the road-ripples, "wash-board gravel" or weather-pocked macadam as if they weren't there.

Even its Dynaflo Drive* contributes to the smoothness of its forward motion by cushioning the transmission of its power.

Experiment Kills College Student

Contaminated Blood Injected Into Youth

SEATTLE (AP)—An 18-year-old college honor student died yesterday of an injection of bacterially-contaminated blood, given during an experiment connected with war research by the University of Washington.

The young victim, James Stanley Leedom, a freshman at Seattle University, was one of 40 volunteers participating in the project seeking better ways to preserve whole blood.

He died three days after the injection, despite every effort to save his life.

Dr. Robert H. Williams, head of the University of Washington Department of Medicine, said the blood became contaminated "by some phenomenon" after it has been refrigerated.

"The only way we can explain it," said Dr. Williams, "is that the bacteria was able to grow in some manner while the blood was at freezing temperature and not at body temperature."

Both Dr. Williams and Dr. Clement A. Finch, associate professor of medicine in charge of Hematology at the university, said they would "gladly participate in the same experiment tomorrow."

They said the bacteria had not yet been identified, but they believed it to be a saprophyte (any organism living on dead or decaying organic matter), which does not grow at body temperature but thrives when chilled.

The project in which Leedom took part was started by the university nine months ago as part of a nation-wide effort to find preservatives which would keep whole blood longer than the 21 days considered safe with the present use of acid citrate glucose. Several other laboratories in the country are conducting research along the same line.

Ike To Report On Progress By Radio, TV

PARIS (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will report by radio and television on April 2 the progress of the western military buildup in the first year of his activated Supreme Allied Command.

It is possible that after the report is presented—or in it—he will ask President Truman to relieve him, thus paving the way for return to the U.S. late in May to campaign actively for the Republican presidential nomination.

The speculation here is that Eisenhower will make at least three speeches in June prior to the Republican convention in Chicago opening on July 7.

Announcement of appointment of a successor to Eisenhower is another step expected to be taken before his return. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, his present chief of staff, is among the prospects.

All of the 14 nations in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization will get an opportunity to hear the Eisenhower report.

The voluminous report is still being drafted by officers at Supreme Headquarters, Allied powers in Europe (SHAPE). It will be read by Eisenhower before radio microphones and television cameras. Tape recordings and films will be flown to the 14 capitals in time for use on April 2. That is the date in 1951 that Eisenhower announced SHAPE was operational and no longer in the planning stage.

3 Missing Children Found In Wilderness

LAKEWOOD, Wis. (AP)—Sheriff Joseph Foral said today three children missing for 40 hours had been found in the wilderness of Nicolet National Forest near here.

Little Mary Ann Church, 3, was the first of the youngsters to be brought in, to the office of Dr. J. F. Dougherty at Suring. The tiny girl was conscious and after treatment began to ask for her family.

Her sister, Cathy, and their cousin, Steven Kennedy, both 5, were en route to the doctor's office for examination. The sheriff reported by radio that the older youngsters were "stiff and cold" but still might be alive.

Sheriff Foral's office said the three were found huddling in an outdoor toilet on the grounds of a closed resort in the winter-bound wilderness of Nicolet National Forest.

The three youngsters were missing since mid-afternoon Saturday, and have been sought by hundreds of snowshoe-borne searchers.

Area Firms Receive Metals To Expand

WASHINGTON (AP)—Metals have been allocated for 1,458 plant expansion projects in the April-June quarter, the National Production Authority said yesterday.

The NPA said building costs on the projects would be more than seven billion dollars.

Steel and iron expansion, totaling 285 projects, will require $2,237,000,000. There are about 380 individual projects in the chemicals expansion.

The NPA said 1,253 applications to begin construction in the same quarter were deferred and a substantial number of the approximately 2,700 applications for building commercial-type structures have been postponed.

Ohio industries receiving allocations, their projects and estimated cost of plant expansions include:

General Motors, Warren, wire

Tired Of The Plunderbund?

ONE PASSAGE of Gen. MacArthur's address to the Mississippi legislature Saturday afternoon will be read twice by every voter determined to use his franchise to hasten a Washington housecleaning.

"As I have traveled through the country," Gen. MacArthur declared, "I have found the sense of concern and outrage over the course of governmental leadership fully as deeply stirring the conscience of those adhering to the Democratic political faith as of those adhering to that of the opposition party. I have found the Democratic rank and file in the field fully as militant in the censure of the misdirection of public affairs as Republicans. And this is as it should be. For, coming from those who compose the governing political party, it emphasizes the depth of the resentment for wrong done America by all who love America."

Here, in an address prepared for professional politicians in one of the legislatures of the Democratic South, is the challenge of this year's presidential election.

The federal government has been taken over by a plunderbund. The bipartisan objective of voters this year is to stop a kind of political administration which cannot be allowed to continue.

The issue in government is whether voters are still stronger than politicians who have betrayed them; whether the two-party system can be made to operate in the way it was intended to operate—to make certain that neither party can conduct itself irresponsibly without being called to account.

No Credit Expected

THE Senate's easy ratification of a peace treaty with Japan makes scarcely a splash in the whirlpool of current events. Yet, it marks the end of one of the strangest chapters of American history.

Japan's attack on the United States was that of a protegee who had gone berserk with ambition or power. Had the attack not been made, Japanese ambition to dominate the Orient would have been realized by this time.

Japanese military might would have neutralized the might of Russia. After World War I, in which Japan had stayed on the sidelines, the Japanese moved from a subordinate to a major position in the international balance of power.

Because Japan's savage turning against the United States was betrayal of the best friend it had made since its emergence from feudalism, Americans hated the Japanese in World War II even more than they hated the Germans.

Yet, with the war over, Gen. MacArthur's administration of a conquered Japan was that of a benefactor, rather than a conqueror. Japan's militarists will not be forgiven, but there is no animosity against the Japanese people.

It is still their destiny to neutralize the might of Russia in the Orient. It is still their destiny to dominate a sphere of influence in which the Communist conspiracy has been exploiting the absence of authority.

The United States expects no credit for having done everything in its power to give Japan a generous treaty. It needs a strong Japan to relieve it of some of the responsibility of keeping Russia from gobbling up Asia.

Japan needs the United States to protect it while it is rebuilding its own strength.

Johnson's Law

PUT DOWN the name of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas in the list of congressmen sticking to fundamentals. He is the author of a proposition about military waste which may become known as Johnson's Law.

According to Johnson's law, a government can be ruined by the margin of waste in military expenditures. As head of a senate preparedness subcommittee, Johnson is searching out flagrant examples of this type of waste to prove his point.

Current focus of his committee's investigation in waste of public money in construction of aviation bases in North Africa. There is no question of the need for the bases; there is a question only of the profligate waste of taxpayers' money in their construction.

With a minimum of waste, the rearmament program still would strain national resources. With a maximum of waste, the program could strain resources to the breaking point. Sen. Johnson has called attention to a hazard which might defeat the purpose of rearmament.

If the Communist conspiracy is going to keep America under the guns for years to come, Americans must learn now to prepare themselves efficiently as well as adequately.

Some folks hesitate about telling their real age because they think they so seldom act it.

EDF Budget

By PETER EDSON

U. S. Supplies Quarter Of Total

WASHINGTON

A FEW more facts on European defense costs are not available. They make possible a better picture than has heretofore been obtainable on the proposed U. S. share of building up NATO—the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and EDF—the European Defense Force under General Eisenhower.

Complete figures on country-by-country expenditures have not yet been released. There is still a great inclination on the part of the military services to keep this a secret. Congress and the American people are therefore left pretty much in the dark on how the defense burden is being shared.

The European Defense Force budget for next year is now revealed as $13.9 billion. This covers the western European forces. It does not cover what France is spending in Indochina. It does not cover what the British are spending in Malaya. It does not include all U. S. aid to Europe. It does not include the cost of maintaining six U. S. divisions nor American air and sea power in Europe.

The 13.9 European defense budget, doesn't look very big when compared to the proposed $51 billion U. S. defense budget for next year. But it is pointed out that the European countries get more defense for a dollar than in America. European pay scales are lower. The costs of planes, tanks, guns and ammunition made in Europe are much lower than for the comparable items produced in the U. S.

So, for 13.9 billion, western Europe will have at the end of this year about 43 divisions plus unspecified air and navy strength.

THESE FIGURES include western Germany's first year contributions. The figures do not include Greek and Turkish military budgets and forces. They do not include Yugoslav and Spanish military outlays. And they do not include Canadian and U. S. contributions to Europe.

The Canadian contribution is one brigade group—a division nucleus of 7000 men plus 12 fighter squadrons of Canadian planes. Canada is also furnishing $225 million mutual aid to Europe. This includes equipment for one division in Belgium, Netherlands and Italy. It includes field and anti-aircraft guns and equipment for France, Denmark, Norway, Portugal and Luxembourg. Canada will also train 1400 European airmen a year.

The U. S. contribution to EDF for the coming year is six divisions plus unspecified air and naval power. Proposed U. S. aid is $5.2 billion. It is broken down three ways.

First is $1.4 billion for a relatively new item called "defense support." The name was used to a limited degree last year. But it still causes some confusion in Congress and the public mind.

Defense support may be roughly defined at U. S. aid which will go into European defense production. It may be machine tools, raw materials, fuel, semi-finished products, parts or components for finished weapon assembly. The main point is that Defense support comprises something that Europe can't furnish for itself.

A specific example may best illustrate what defense support is. Recently France announced production of a new "Mystery" jet fighter. Production of this plane in France was made possible by $5 million worth of U. S. machine tools, furnished last year.

Mass production of the plane will begin in April. By the end of the year the French will be turning out 30 planes a month, valued at $9 million. Thus the American defense support is multiplied many times in the value of defense items produced in Europe.

THE $1.4 billion worth of defense support the U. S. plans to furnish Europe this year is included in the $13.9 billion EDF budget. Mutual Security Agency Director Averell Harriman says about $600 million of this aid will go to Britain, $400 million to France, $400 million to other western European countries.

It is not just economic aid by another name. If this defense support is not furnished, it is claimed that the European defense output for the year will be only 10.6 billion.

In addition to the proposed $1.4 billion worth of defense support, the U. S. plans to furnish western Europe with $2.8 billion worth of arms produced in the U. S. and $1 billion worth of "off-shore" military procurement.

This off-shore procurement includes complete weapons or military equipment produced wholly in Europe for EDF but paid for with American dollars. It will be contracted for directly by the U. S. Army, Navy or Air Force. By rule of thumb, this $1 billion worth of arms produced off shore in Europe would cost about $2.5 billion if produced in the U. S. and shipped aboard.

European expenditures, plus Canadian and U. S. aid, brings the EDF budget for next year to nearly $195 billion. The U. S. contribution, $5.2 billion, not counting the cost of keeping U. S. forces in Europe, is about one-fourth of the total.

Ready With The Beads

By TRUMAN TWILL

Since it is now a certainty the inhabitants of earth eventually will send expeditions to other planets, we are aiming to get in on the ground floor of something juicy.

We are storing up glass beads, costume jewelry, gadgets, grain alcohol, candy and tobacco for trading purposes.

We expect to make a killing on one of the earlier expeditions. A little later, it will be possible to branch out with a line of canned gasoline, dynamite, flame throwers, ordnance and technical information to enable celestial foreigners to share in the fundamental discoveries which have been made here on earth.

Pending the development of tariff barriers, immigration restrictions and laws prohibiting the sudden departure of wealth from the virgin planets, any enterprising American should be able to whoop up a booming business by trading with the unenlightened.

They will be expected to give in return nothing but a line of fancy baskets, moccasins, exotic headgear and trinkets carved of wood and metal. There will be a tremendous demand for any and all mementoes from the near cosmos. If these cannot be supplied readily, of course, they always can be whipped up in jig-time by the eager artisans of Brooklyn, N. Y., or the clever Nipponese.

It is not beyond likelihood that these space creatures who eventually will be a ripe market for synthetic fabrics, electric refrigerators, pop-up toasters and vitamin capsules will not be adequately prepared to do business. They may have no cola nuts, tung oil, bird's nests, or hog bristles to barter with when mass production knocks at the door. They may even lack uranium ore.

The poor devils may not even know how to carve chessmen, fashion trinkets out of copper, or put together a vaudeville act featuring electric guitars and hula dancers. They may never have learned how to shrink human heads, make wampum, or use narcotics, all shortcomings subject to eradication by their good friends here on earth.

To speak the truth, they may not even have a secretary of foreign relations, empowered to appoint attaches to keep track of commercial possibilities. They may not even have economists to grind out square acres of figures showing favorable and unfavorable balances of trade. Hence, this determination on our part to move in on the unexploited territory and make a killing a la John Jacob Astor.

Here will be a new frontier. Here will be the opportunity of three lifetimes. Until such devices as trade barriers, reciprocal agreements, quotas and imposts are worked up, we earthlings will have a better thing than a grab-bag in our own Bureau of Internal Revenue.

There's only one catch in the proposition—the details which must be worked out before space ships can be zoomed out yonder. That may take another 75 or 100 years. It may take too darned long.

SIDE GLANCES

By Galbraith

"I don't like that new driver—since he started, the school bus is always right on time!"

"Mind a Suggestion That'll Help Us Both?"

The Essential Struggle

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

AN appreciable number of political leaders in both parties as well as internationalists who belong to neither party are anxious that the foreign policy pursued by the State Department should not be altered, come what may.

They would prefer to prevent altogether or to limit as far as they can a free and open discussion of the Acheson policies, the Marshall Plan, the ECA hand-outs, the Korean war and the China fiasco. It is for this reason that so many of the old New Dealers, as distinct from the Truman Fair Dealers, are concerning themselves with Republican rather than Democratic politics.

They are sure that the Democratic party will defend the Acheson position; they cannot be sure what the Republicans will do. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., more than a year ago, before it was an immediate political question, stated this program when he said:

"If all we had now to consider was American opinion, we could unhesitatingly say that the freest debate on foreign policy would without doubt be good. But we cannot build a wall around the United States and confine this discussion solely to the ears and eyes of the American people. What we say here is heard and read and misinterpreted—all over the world—and the reaction of the world closely affects American welfare."

YET ONE of the two principal values of the presidential election, every fourth year, is that it gives to the people an opportunity to participate directly in a choice of policy. It is to meet this right of the people that the political parties not only offer candidates but platforms, not only personalities but statements of political principle and purpose. Under the American scheme every election is, in effect, a referendum.

Since 1936, the American people have had no opportunity to debate, with any degree of thoroughness, policies which have brought them two wars, the huge burden of a more than $260,000,000,000 national debt, increasing taxes, depreciated currency, a budget that this year will probably reach $100,000,000,000 and the huge loss of life. Those who sought such a discussion in the elections of 1940, 1944, 1948 were smeared as isolationists, if not Facists.

It would seem futile to hold an election if these matters are not to be discussed and debated in detail, with a hard hammering of the facts to bring out the truth. An election without debate would be no more than a change of personalities at the top, with a continuance of policy and probably of those officials in office capable of and willing to carry out the old policies.

SENATOR LODGE amplified his concept in this paragraph:

"Senators have recently calmly discussed what places we might have to bomb—places those inhabitants we still hope might have a common cause with us. This does not make friends for us abroad, however much it may reassure people at home. If we do not discuss these matters, our debate may lack realism and may not give reassurance, but at least it will not mean the loss of potential partners should a future conflict occur."

Our problem, according to him, is that if the American people are told the truth and discuss it, it will annoy our allies. Therefore, it is essential that the truth not be discussed. In a word, now, more than six years after the war, the American people are to be told to continue to give blank checks to Great Britain and France as they were told, during the war, to give blank checks to Soviet Russia—to the tune of $11,000,000,000 in cash and an empire in the Teheran and Yalta agreements.

THIS PHILOSOPHY is designed to protect those who have a vested interest in their own mistakes. W. Averell Harriman, for instance, has played a primary role in our relations with Russia which anyone can see have gone sour. Yet, he has never once admitted that his counsel might have been at fault.

He continues to manipulate American policy and to encourage expenditures on a vast scale, until even Senator Tom Connally is angered by his complacency.

The problem then is to keep the debate on the foreign policy a continuing one, without regard to candidates and yet without imperiling the security of the country.

Nerves Can Cause Stuttering

MR. A. writes: "I stutter, and sometimes it is very difficult for me to speak. I have tried to talk. Neither one seems to work, so I would like to know what you think I should do."

This reader is of the 1,300,000 others in the United States who are estimated to stutter. Now, stuttering or stammering as it is sometimes called, is a real handicap, but one which most who are properly treated, learn to surmount. It is considered to be a nervous or emotional disorder. The exact cause is not known.

Probably, some children are born predisposed to the disorder; that is, they may be called a "stutter-type." Stuttering is not inherited, but the nervous constitution which makes for susceptibility to his speech difficulty is probably inborn.

Sex plays some obscure part as there are nearly five times as many boys who stutter as here are girls. Children of the "stutter-type" may live for a long time without developing any speech defect, unless they have some shock or accident which upsets their nervous system. Then something happens which brings out the difficulty for the first time.

There are two stages in the development of stuttering. The chances of stopping the trouble are much greater in the first stage than before anxiety and feelings of inferiority have developed. A stuttering child should never be punished with a hope of breaking him of the habit. The youngster can't help it!

The treatment at this stage is principally to slow down the pace of living and remove as much excitement and tension as possible. Family quarrels, games or amusements which are too exciting, and similar stimulations should be avoided.

Left-handedness is probably not fundamentally related to stuttering. A left-handed child who is made to use his right instead of his left is being forced to do something contrary to what was intended by nature. This, of course, puts an added strain on the nervous system and in a child who is predisposed to stuttering might be serious enough to bring on the symptoms.

A great deal has been learned about stuttering and its treatment in recent years. When treatment is begun early the results are often astonishingly good.

Many famous people have suffered from speech defects, including Moses, Aristotle, Virgil, Charles Lamb, and Clara Barton, the founder of the American Red Cross. Great accomplishments can, therefore, be made in spite of a speech defect of this sort.

Several medical schools or universities have speech clinics to help the stutterer and the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults (11 South La Salle Street, Chicago) has taken an interest in the problem.

Questions and Answers

Q—What country formerly required that a man having a red flag should precede every automobile?

A—In the 1860's, England passed what are known as the Red Flag laws. These required that each steam carriage be preceded during the daytime by a man on foot carrying a red flag, and during the night by a man carrying a lantern. These laws were not repealed until 1896.

Q—Are there any important rivers in Saudi Arabia?

A—No, nor any lakes, either.

Rail Crossings

By HAL BOYLE

Only Drivers Can Make Them Safe

NEW YORK

JAMES LEMLEY is a railroad engineer who has driven trains 2,000,000 miles in nearly 40 years and never hit a motorist. "I've just been lucky," he said.

Hal Boyle

"I sure would like to keep my record," said Lemley, a gentle man of 69 who retires next September. "But these accidents are up to the motorists. How can you make them comply with the red warning lights? A train can't get off the track."

THE RAILROADS for some years have waged an intensive safety campaign to reduce grade crossing disasters, which account for about five per cent of all auto fatalities. To see the problem from an engineer's standpoint I rode in his cab the other day with Lemley. He pilots the Baltimore & Ohio's crack passenger train, "The Royal Blue," from Washington, D. C., to Jersey City, N. J.

The nine-car train is pulled by a 4,000-horsepower diesel locomotive and reaches a speed of 70 to 80 miles an hour in the 223-mile trip.

It turned out that the chief problems of Lemley and his fireman were to see that the track was clear—and to warn motorists.

"THERE ARE about 200 grade crossings along the way," Lemley said. Exactly 1,600 feet before each crossing stood a concrete whistle post. At each post Lemley tugged four times on the whistle cord—two long, a short, and another long. And the whistle—it is really a horn—moaned with a sound audible for miles.

"The train bell rings before each crossing, too," explained the engineer. "But the sound travels forward and you can't hear it here in the cab."

Lemley, a white-haired man with two grandchildren, has to pull that whistle cord 800 times by law. But he did it at least another 100 for himself—to signal back to waving kids, farmers and housewives hanging laundry on the line.

"You get to know quite a few people along the way over the years," he said, smiling.

IT GIVES you a lift to hear the singing rails as you zoom along in a locomotive cab. I began to understand the feeling railroad men have for their work.

With us in the cab rode Lemley's boss, Wilson H. Stevens, B.&O. road foreman of engines, a former engineer himself. As a big dump truck suddenly trundled across the tracks ahead of us in violation of the red warning lights, I asked what would happen if the truck suddenly stalled.

"We'd hit him," said Stevens. "We could slow down—but we couldn't stop in time."

"I've hit 'em myself. It gives you a completely helpless feeling. You keep waving at the driver, trying to tell him to get out. What do you think of? Well—he hesitated—"I've had five children myself. All I remember thinking about when I saw there was going to be an accident was"—he hesitated again—"I just hoped there wouldn't be any kids in the car."

THERE WAS a long silence among the three trainmen as we roared on down the rails. Trainmen hate to talk about grade crossing accidents, because they don't feel there is much they themselves can do to halt them.

When I climbed down from the cab later, Lemley said, almost apologetically:

"You know, I've been lucky—just lucky, that's all."

A trainman then mentioned a case in which a motorist at a crossing crashed into the caboose at the end of a 100-car freight train.

"We still can't figure that driver out," he said, scratching his head.

Manufacturers Seek End To Production Law

BOCA RATON, Fla. (AP)—The president of the National Association of Manufacturers said today "we want the Defense Production Act to expire in June, 1952."

William J. Grede of Milwaukee, Wis., told the NAM's Industrial Institute in an address at its opening session that "we do recommend allocation of material for defense orders only, and providing the Federal Reserve Board with power to impose credit controls such as regulation 'W'."

"Far too few of us realize the extent to which the Korean emergency has been used as a justification for even bigger central government," Grede said.

He said that since the imposition of the wage freeze, the general wage level has advanced much more rapidly than has the price level.

"Wage stabilization," he added, "has served as a device by which the influence of government has been added to the pressure of labor unions to produce an irresistible but nevertheless artificial upward trend."

Grede said wage stabilization has not stabilized wages, but "has disrupted normal employee relations, prevents sound wage administration, supplants recognition of individuals and substitutes a union-minded government as the agency which appears to be responsible for wage increases when, of course, it is the employer who grants such increases."

Women Steal Wallet

George Fryer, 86, of the Newgarden Rd. told sheriff's deputies Saturday afternoon that two women, apparently gypsies, stole a wallet containing about $12 from his pocket about noon Saturday.

George Worth Post
To Honor Schoolboys

The George D. Worth Post 574, American Legion, of Lake Placencia, will sponsor two schoolboy patrolmen to the national meeting at Washington, D. C., in May.

The Student Council of the Knox Local School met Friday afternoon to select Roger Wyss, seventh grade, and James Cameron, sixth grade.

Both Wyss and Cameron have been members of the patrol since its formation in 1949 under the sponsorship of the Worth Post. The Knox Patrol has a 100 per cent safety record since it was started.

It has been the policy of the Worth Post to sponsor two members of the patrol each year. The post, which is one of the smallest posts in the 10th District of the American Legion of Ohio, has received national recognition on several occasions for Americanism activities.

LOSE UGLY FAT
I did it—You can too

Mrs. Lewis Ross, 1204 Gomer Ave., Cambridge, Ohio writes: "I lost weight the safe and easy way with Rennie, and I am certainly happy over what Rennie has done for me. Using Rennie I have lost 4 inches from my bust, 5 inches from my waist and 6 inches from my hips. My thanks to Rennie." Imagine, eat plenty and lose weight with this safe, effective home recipe. Obtain liquid Rennie at your drug store, mix with grapefruit juice as directed and take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. If reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't seem to disappear almost like magic with the very first bottle, just return it to the manufacturer for your money back. You need never know a hungry moment while reducing with Rennie. Insist on genuine Rennie.

Odessa June Bohner Married To Sgt. Elton R. Landahl

THE WEDDING of a nurse and an Air Force staff sergeant took place in the Assembly of God Tabernacle at 7:30 p.m. Saturday. The registered nurse, who became a bride, is the former Odessa June Bohner of N. Roosevelt Ave. The groom, Staff Sgt. Elton R. Landahl of Youngstown, is the son of Russell Landahl of Youngstown.

The single-ring service, performed by candlelight by Rev. Clarence Hahn, church pastor, was witnessed by many friends of the couple. The altar setting was banked with palms.

The love melodies, "Oh Promise Me" and "Because," were sung by Mrs. Harvey Henson, to accompaniment by Mrs. Carol Barth. The prelude recital included "The Holy City," "Oh Perfect Love," and "Liebestraum." "The Lord's Prayer" was played as the couple knelt during prayer. The traditional marches heralded the wedding party. Mrs. Henson, the groom's sister, came from Texas.

Shannon Steinmetz, brother-in-law of the bride, gave her in marriage. Carrying a spray of white roses, the bride wore a white ballerina-length gown fashioned of net with a satin underskirt. The net theme was repeated at the yoke of the bodice. The waist and sleeves were of lace with lace inserts into the skirt. Lace in the sleeves came to points over the hands.

Her veil of imported illusion net was held in place by a halo ornamented with seed pearls.

Mrs. Steinmetz was her sister's matron of honor. She carried a spray of yellow carnations with her turquoise crepe gown styled in floor length. Her matching hat was in taffeta.

Rudy Fahr served Sgt. Landahl as best man. Ushers were Richard Pennell and Donald Marshall. All the men are of Youngstown.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Bohner chose a bolero jacket dress in navy blue. Her flower corsage was red roses.

The newlyweds welcomed more than 200 guests at a reception in the bride's home. People came from Youngstown, Garfield, Leetonia, Fort Worth, Tex., Alliance, North Georgetown and California.

A three-tiered wedding cake was the center of attraction at the buffet refreshment table. Serving were Mrs. Richard Beck, Mrs. Tom Berger, Mrs. Ross Culbertson, Mrs. Frederick Limestone and Mrs. Richard Frederick.

For their brief weekend honeymoon, Mrs. Landahl wore a navy blue ensemble with matching accessories and a red rose corsage.

Mrs. Landahl, a graduate of Salem High School and the Salem City Hospital School of Nursing, is employed as surgical nurse at the hospital. Her husband graduated from Youngstown Chaney High School and is serving with the United States Air Force at Connaught Field, Tex. The couple will make their home at the base after the first of the month.

Margie Hum Married To David Peppel

THE GLOW of candlelight lent beauty to the simple double-ring ceremony that made Miss Margie Jane Hum the bride of David William Peppel at 6:30 p.m. Saturday at the Methodist Church in Columbiana.

Rev. William Longworth performed the nuptials before an altar centered with a Bible and banked with ferns and palms. Mrs. Robert Cline of Columbiana played the traditional organ melodies as the wedding party approached the altar.

Miss Hum is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hum of Columbiana and Mr. Peppel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Peppel of Leetonia.

The bride was escorted down the aisle by her father in the presence of the immediate families and friends. Her lovely gown was styled with a bodice of white lace and a nylon net skirt. She wore matching mitts and fingertip length veil of lace attached to a lace bonnet trimmed with seed pearls. An orchid topped the small white Bible she carried.

Miss Alyce Ann Hum attended her sister as maid of honor and was gowned in a fuchsia taffeta dress with matching mitts. Her bouquet was created of American Beauty roses and white snapdragons.

The groom's brother-in-law, Glenn P. Otto, served as best man and Morris Hollinger was an usher.

The mother of the bride was dressed in slate blue with white accessories and the groom's mother wore navy blue with pink accessories. Both had corsages of white gardenias.

A reception at the bride's home immediately following the wedding was attended by the immediate families.

For a honeymoon trip through the eastern states the new Mrs. Peppel wore a light green suit with black accessories and a corsage of white orchids. The newlyweds will make their home at Wilson St., Leetonia.

The bride is a graduate of Columbiana High School and is a stenographer at the Electric Furnace Company. Mr. Peppel graduated from Leetonia High School and is employed at the Russell Company, Columbiana.

loss is neglected the harder it is to recapture certain speech sounds and understand them."

To acquaint the hard of hearing readers of this paper with what can be done to prevent a hearing loss from becoming progressively worse, full authoritative details are described in an informative illustrated booklet, "New Discoveries To Help The Deaf Hear," which will be sent in a plain wrapper without cost or obligation.

Middletown, Lockland Victorious In Ohio Cage Finals

Classic May Be Moved From Columbus In 1954

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS (AP)—Middletown and Lockland Wayne won Ohio's high school basketball championships, but Columbus may lose the annual tournament.

Rumbles of dissatisfaction which have been heard for years over use of the antiquated State Fairgrounds Coliseum for the schoolboy cage classic coagulated over the weekend. And Cincinnati and Cleveland may wind up as hosts for the colorful affair.

The state board of control of the Ohio High School Athletic Association all got into the "maybe we should move" act.

ALL AGREED the 1953 event should be brought back to the historic site here where the tournament was launched in 1923, but should go elsewhere if a more suitable Capital City spot isn't available by 1954.

Muddy parking lots (it generally rains at tournament time), inadequate dressing rooms, unequal heating, practically nonexistent rest room facilities and lack of seats have occasioned most of the complaints from coaches, fans and others against the coliseum.

In Saturday's finals rain dripped through the leaky roof to the playing floor, holding up the games on numerous occasions as officials, players and workmen mopped up the water with towels.

Paul Walker, coach of the Class A Middletown club which won its fourth championship by halting Steubenville's 28-game winning streak 63-53, declined to allow his boys to dress in the room assigned to them. The kids donned uniforms at their hotel, and returned there for post-game showers.

Lockland Wayne took the Class B title by defeating Nelsonville 56-46, the first championship for the Hamilton County All-Negro team which lost in the first round a year ago.

H. W. EMSWILER, high school commissioner who was granted a three-month leave of absence because of illness Saturday, said weeks ago he was "not only impressed, but amazed" at the facilities offered by the air-conditioned Cincinnati Gardens as a site for the annual tournament. The Cleveland Arena also is in the front rank as a contemplated site.

The tournament has been held at the coliseum since 1923 with the exception of a couple of war years when the Army used the Fairgrounds building as a storage depot for some 15,000 step-ladders.

Columbus has two "on paper" chances of retaining the trophy. Ohio State University is planning a field house, adjoining the football stadium, and a city-county Veterans Memorial Arena in the downtown sector also is projected. No construction has started on either, however.

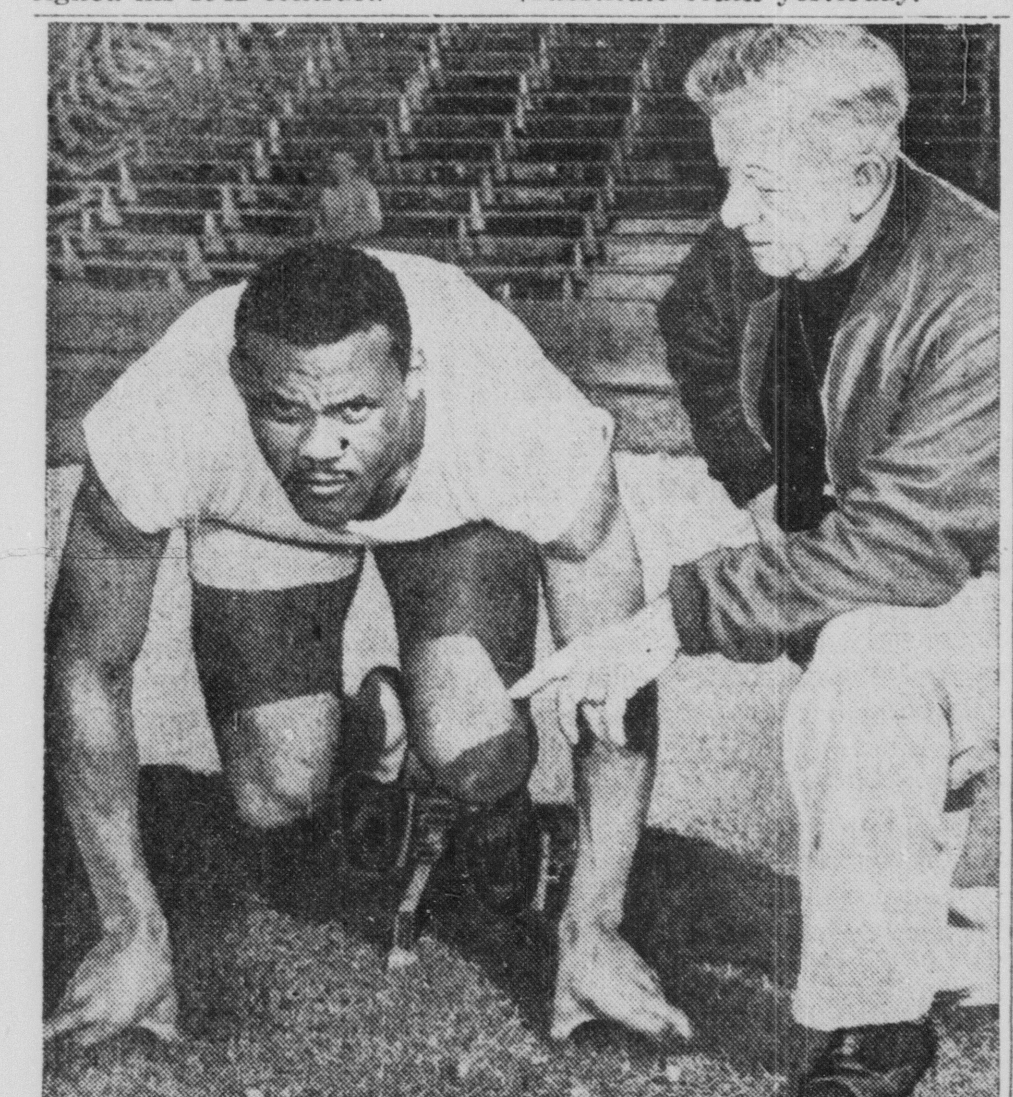

Despite the criticisms, the 1952 tournament was one of the most colorful record-breakers in history. The attendance of 48,466 erased the old mark of 41,386 set in 1950—and thousands were turned away.

Middletown tied Dayton Stivers' record of winning four Class A championships, and Dick Vice of the Middies scored 31 points against Cincinnati Withrow to set an all-time record, bettering the 27 made by Newark's Dwight Snelling in 1941.

And Steubenville's Chuck Ellis, with 25 points in the finale against Middletown, set a new mark for the championship game, one ahead of the 24 compiled in 1935 by Akron North's Big Ed Sadowski.

Indians Lose To Cubs, 7-3

Return Home Today To Play Cubs Again

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The Cleveland Indians, tired of cold California weather and low cash returns on exhibition games, returned to usually-sunny Tucson today.

"Yeah, it'll be good to get back, even for only five days," said Manager Al Lopez. The Indians open their home stand today with the Chicago Cubs, the team that beat them twice over the weekend.

Bob Lemon, the exhibition season's hottest pitcher with 14 scoreless innings, starts for the Indians today.

In the California trip, the Indians had to cancel four games because of rain and cold. They played before 25,605 customers in nine games, and their share barely paid traveling expenses, the club said.

In Tucson, 12,243 have watched three games this season.

Yesterday's 7-3 loss to the Cubs at Los Angeles was a case of Steve Gromek pitching too many fat ones. He dealt out four home runs—two by Hank Sauer and one each by Roy Smalley and Frankie Baumholtz.

Steve shut out the Cubs for three innings, giving him a total string of nine, then got hit harder than any Cleveland pitcher has endured this season. In the next two innings, the Cubs swatted seven of their eleven hits.

LOU BRISSE and George Zverink finished up and didn't permit a run, but Cleveland couldn't keep a rally going in the ninth.

LUKE Easter's single in that frame and doubles by Ray Boone and Jim Hegan, off the 42-year-old Dutch Leonard, produced two runs. Joe Hatten then replaced Leonard, and walked Harry Simpson to fill the bases. Then Bob Avila fouled off three pitches and grounded out to end the game.

Gromek, who started so well, got into trouble in the fourth. Baumholtz opened with a single and Sauer homered. Randy Jackson tripled, and, with two out, Smalley homered.

In the fifth, Dee Fondy singled and Baumholtz homered. Sauer followed up with his second homer of the day.

Easter's knee seems to be functioning properly. He made a graceful slide into home plate in the ninth. It was unnecessary as it turned out, though. The throw from the outfield was inaccurate.

Mike Garcia is the latest victim of the flu bug. Others who have suffered: Pete Reiser, and Coaches Tony Cuccinello, and Jake Flowers.

Johnny Berardino accompanied the Indians back to Tucson. His trial with the Indians has been held up by a pulled leg muscle. The Indians plan to cut the squad this week. The guess is that Ray Narleski, Bud Hutson, Lloyd Dickey, and, perhaps, Joe Montalvo will go to Indianapolis.

The destinies of Dino Restelli and Paul Lehner are unknown. Ex-Dodger Babe Herman was a substitute coach yesterday.

Fourteen Teams Entered In Little City Cage Tourney

A disappointing fourteen teams are entered in the annual Little City Invitational Basketball Tournament, announced Memorial Building Manager Ward Zeller today.

The tourney, the 17th annual affair, lost many teams because of other tournaments in Hubbard and East Liverpool, Zeller explained. However, the 14 teams entered all promise to make a good showing when the event gets underway Wednesday evening.

Four Salem teams are entered—Mullins, Amvets, Conway Music, the Deming team of the Class A League with a few additional players, and Paris Cleaners, a pick-up team consisting of some local cagers.

Last year's consolation winner, Canton Cals, are again entered in the tourney under the name of Lee Stockton's Collegians. The players are former Kent State and Mount Union cagers.

Other teams who will see action in the tournament are Canton First Presbyterian Church; Akron Mackey, a classy outfit who played last season in the tourney; Cleveland Stewart's; Columbiana Mays, a group of former Clipper players; Ashland Myers Pumps; Parma Bleep Coombs, a team who have entered the tourney for a number of years; Massillon Army-Navy, boasting Henry "Ace" Grooms, a Massillon High School star; and Augusta.

The latter quintet is reported to have All-Ohio Clarence "Bevo" Francis on their team. The team is composed of mostly Wellsville players and the Augusta High School coach.

The schedule for the tournament will be announced tomorrow.

Detroit Five Wins ABC Tournament

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A Detroit quintet grabbed first place in the team event last night as the first weekend of the American Bowl in Congress tournament ended.

The Royal Supply Co. team of Detroit, backed by Joe Plasky's 627, hit the top on a 2,933 total. The tournament, the ABC's 49th annual, runs through June 14.

In singles the top ten included Paul Smith, Toledo, in 3rd place with 649; James Nuccitelli, Alliance, seventh, with 622; and Michael Marone, Cudahy, Wis., and James Ricci, Hamilton, tied for ninth with 616.

The top 10 team leaders include Frisch's Big Boy, Cincinnati, fifth with 2,793; Thompson Heating, Cincinnati, sixth, with 2,787, and Lengel Slaughter House, Toledo, eighth, with 2,756.

Ex-Yankee Pitcher Steve Sundra Dies

CLEVELAND (AP)—Friends of ex-Yankee pitcher Steve Sundra were asked today to send contributions to the American Cancer Society, instead of flowers.

Cut down from a strapping 215 to 75 pounds in less than a year and a half, Steve died yesterday at his home here, where he had returned to live out his remaining time with his father and mother. The stay lasted only two weeks. The family knew he would never recover.

Sundra, who was 40, made Atlantic City, N. J., his home in 1946, when he was released by the St. Louis Browns. He had pitched for the Browns only a month following his discharge from the Army.

Five years ago—Utah won the National Invitation Tournament championship by defeating Kentucky, 49-45.

NCAA Cage Semi-Finals Set Tuesday

SEATTLE (AP)—Two veteran and two upset-minded teams—one each from the East and the West—collide here tomorrow night for the National Collegiate basketball championship and a berth in the Olympic Games trials.

St. John's of Brooklyn, conqueror of mighty Kentucky, and Illinois, Big Ten champion, are paired in the opening game of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) semi-finals at the University of Washington Pavilion. They will decide the Eastern championship.

Kansas, Big Seven titlist, and unheralded Santa Clara, surprise winner over UCLA, Pacific Coast champions, and Wyoming, Skyline Conference kingpin, will settle the Western championship in the second game.

The two winners will collide

Wednesday night for the National championship. The finalists also earn a berth in the Olympic Games trials later this month in Kansas City and New York.

Kansas and Santa Clara arrived here last night and scheduled pre-tournament workouts today.

Fog at the Seattle-Tacoma International Airport forced a special plane bringing St. John's and Illinois here from Chicago to go on to Portland, Ore., for the night. They are expected here about noon today.

Twenty years ago—The New York Rangers won the playoff for the National Hockey League championship, defeating the Montreal Canadiens 3 games to 1.

A year ago today—Dick But-ton, Englewood, N. J., retained his North American Men's figure skating championship while Sonja Klopfer, Brooklyn, captured the women's title.

Vets Administration Reports Home Loan Application Rush

THE GOVERNMENT is being flooded with applications for federally-guaranteed home loans and some officials say it means housing output is headed for another big increase.

The Veterans Administration reports home loan applications are now running at the highest monthly rate since October, 1950, when the government imposed credit controls to restrict housing volume.

And the Federal Housing Administration estimates applications for FHA-guaranteed loans jumped almost 50 per cent during the first two months of this year. Further increases are expected.

Both VA and FHA lending operations have been sharply curtailed for more than a year due to credit controls and to a greater degree by the critical, nationwide shortage of investment funds needed to finance the loans.

For the most part investors have diverted their funds into defense construction and home loans paying a higher interest rate than the four or four-and-one-half per cent available from the government.

SINCE FEDERAL lending operations have now increased substantially officials say it indicates that the shortage of mortgage money is ending. In some areas the money scarcity has already been cleared up but in others it still is serious.

VA says requests for GI home loans, appraisals dropped to an all-time low last July when only 7,700 applications were received. After that, the monthly total began to increase steadily and in January it had reached 21,600.

FHA says it received 22,968 applications for new construction in February as compared with 16,000 in the same month a year ago. Business was also brisk in January.

WITH THE official start of the 1952 construction season, officials are generally optimistic on the immediate outlook for all segments of the building industry.

Home buyers, too, will share in favorable market conditions. Wider selections of houses and stabilized prices will feature most housing areas.

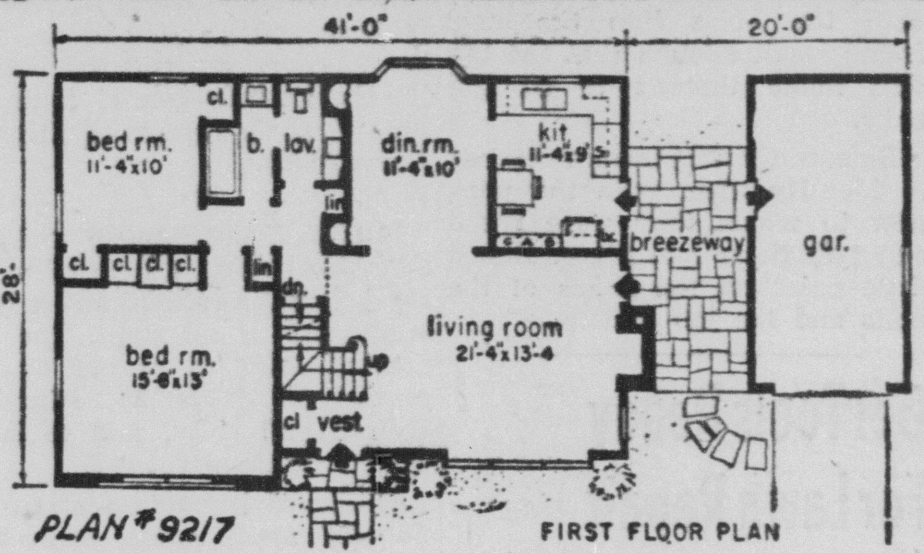

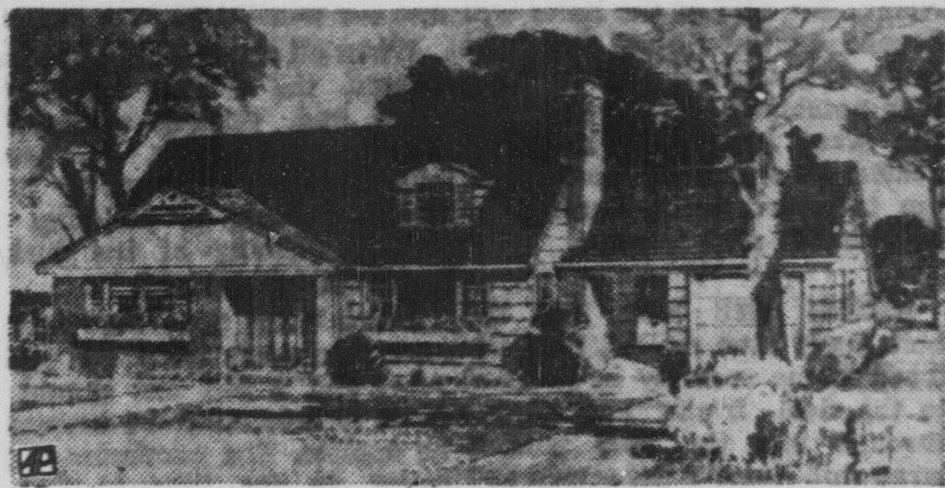

Since controls have hit housing output hard, the National Association of Home Builders forecasts more selling of used homes than sales of newly-developed property.

But the biggest step to return normal operations to the industry has been taken by the Defense Production Administration which has ordered a sweeping relaxation of controls over commercial and industrial buildings.

MOST OF these projects — stores, office buildings, shopping centers, factories and other similar construction — have been held up for months by a serious shortage of materials.

DPA has now decided to remove the ban on these projects beginning next July. By the end of the year, officials say most builders will be eligible to start skyscrapers and neighborhood shopping centers without too much trouble.

Housing officials say the gov-

A LUXURY PLAN for an economical small house, this design 9217 by Herman York, architect, 115 New Hyde Park Road, Garden City, N. Y., includes a full basement and an expansion attic for the addition of extra bedrooms. An open stairway with landing creates a front vestibule with coat closet. Breezeway porch opens from both living room and kitchen. Bathroom is divided and equipped with two washstands, one with vanity counter. Eight closets on the first floor include two linen closets, one for towels and one for bedding. Dining room has two built-in china cupboards. Fireplace at end of the long living room permits comfortable furniture grouping. The house covers only about 1,090 square feet without breezeway and garage.

ment has no immediate plans to relax credit and materials controls restricting home building although numerous reports indicate plentiful supplies of construction materials.

However, one expert says "it will be pretty hard to hold the line on housing" if the government proceeds to allow widespread construction of commercial buildings.

HOME BUILDERS already are plugging for a greater production year than the 800,000 apartments and houses programmed by the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

NAHB wants housing officials to allow private enterprise to build the entire 800,000 dwellings with no work done by the Public Housing Administration. PHA has asked Congress to build 75,000 low-rent homes in the 12 months starting next July but the House Appropriations Committee has cut the figure to 25,000 units.

Since the entire question of home production is now before Congress it appears that government housing officials will wait for instructions from the senate and house before taking further action in the housing field.

ASHES INSTEAD OF HOUSES

Each year, forest fires in the United States, most of them man-caused, destroy enough wood to build 86,000 homes.

Ironing material from which soap has not been well rinsed may cause a stain much like iron rust. A soap and water washing usually removes it. Be sure to rinse well. Bleaching in the sun afterward is sometimes helpful.

Remodeling Can Be Your Best Housing Investment

Remodeling can very well be the best housing investment you can make today. It can give your family better living facilities for a fraction of what a new house costs.

You may feel that you have lived in your house long enough to know its shortcomings—maybe long enough to think the small bathroom and old-fashioned kitchen are hopeless. But to duplicate the size of that house under present building costs might amount to two or three times what you paid for the place.

For a fraction of that outlay you can accomplish a lot of remodeling, increasing livability and resale value.

What to remodel depends on the individual house, on your needs and your budget.

Check With Architect

If you plan exterior changes, or want to remove a wall, it's a good idea to see an architect. If you are handy with tools and want to do some, or all of the work yourself, check with your local building inspector.

List the changes you want to make and get an estimate from a contractor. He usually can help you arrange for a loan at the bank to finance the work in easy payments.

Building material and equipment manufacturers are aware of the demand for remodeling. They making it as easy as possible for home owners to do the job. They publish complete instructions to show how to install kitchen cabinets, pre-fitted windows and doors, flooring, folding attic stairs, overhead garage doors, and so on.

Bathroom Space Needed

Older houses often need additional bathroom facilities. Sometimes a powder room-lavatory can be installed in space under stairs, or by enlarging a seldom used closet. Frequently the space occupied by an old fashioned pantry becomes available through the installation of new cabinets in the kitchen. With plumbing supply lines already in a house, the addition of a new bathroom and kitchen plumbing fixtures is relatively simple.

The possibility of enlarging a bathroom and compartmenting fixtures so that more than one person can use the room at a time should not be overlooked.

Divided bathrooms are one of the economy tricks on the newest houses.

Modern folding doors of the accordion type make it easy to divide overly large living rooms to create a den, for the television at one end.

Roof Damage Can Be Easily Avoided

When a house is situated in an exposed location and high winds are frequent, manufacturers recommend that asphalt strip shingles be cemented down by applying a daub of quick-setting cement under each shingle.

If the tabs were not cemented down at the time the roofing material was applied, home owners in high wind areas are advised to have this done as a precaution against avoidable roof damage. The job involves little time and expense.

The Question Box

Q — What kind of shingles should be used on a roof with a very steep pitch?

A—All styles of asphalt shingles are suitable for a roof with a rise of 4 inches or more to each horizontal foot. Strip and individual asphalt shingles are made in a variety of shapes and colors. The variety of shapes enables the home-owner to pick out the pattern that will add most to the attractiveness of his dwelling. Attractiveness can also be increased by judicious choice from among the many solid and blended colors available.

Q—What makes a plaster ceiling fall?

A—Plaster falls because it gets wet. Water softens plaster, and soft plaster loses its grip on the lath. The water can come from a leaking roof or a leaking pipe. Because water can work its way unseen through the walls, its source is often far from where it appears.

Q—What is the best way to repair the crack where a concrete basement floor has pulled away from the wall?

A—Widen the crack to form a wedge-shaped groove. Pack the groove with a stiff mortar made of one part cement and three parts sand.

Q—How can a crack in cast iron be repaired?

A—With iron cement, which is sold in hardware stores. This comes as a powder and is mixed with water to form a thick paste.

Wherever the flame points it will do the job better. Friendly and prompt service wherever you live!

Signs Of Good House Plan Can Easily Be Recognized

There never was a perfect house plan. Architects will tell you the perfect plan will never be drawn. A house that seems to fill all the needs and likes of one family will not necessarily appeal as strongly to another family. But certain features can mark any plan "good" or "not so good."

It's easy to recognize many of house plan.

One good sign is the ease of circulation—the way you can move around in the house. Looking at these signs when you look at a plan you can visualize how you would come in the front door, or back door. You can see the routes you would take from one room to another. These are traffic routes. In time they wear the carpets thin, but every house has traffic routes.

Some of these are sensible, some annoying and some expensive to provide for. It used to be that most houses were planned with long halls to take care of traffic. When building costs began to go up, architects figured that such halls were more or less waste space and they tried to keep this space down to about 10 per cent of the total floor area. When they succeeded, they called it a good plan.

Advantages of Center Halls
About that time they rediscovered the advantages of the center hall plan, which distinguished many fine old colonial homes. The goal then became the planning of rooms around a center of circulation so that each room could be a dead-end room, whenever possible. This made it unnecessary to walk through a living room and on through a dining room just to get a drink of water in the kitchen. So a plan with dead-end rooms became a good plan.

This made it easy to plan a two-story house in the shape of a box when building costs shot upward again. Home buyers had to get as much house for their money as possible. A two-story square or rectangular house was the most economical. It packed a maximum of rooms in a minimum of outside walls and foundations. And it was economical to heat a house with some rooms above others.

A fairly big house could measure, say, 30x30 ft. That produced an area of 900 sq. ft. for each floor, or a total of 1,800 sq. ft. And the house measured 120 ft. around, calling for only 120 linear feet of foundation. If the second story rooms were placed down alongside the first story, you'd still have 1,800 sq. ft. of area, but the foundation would measure 180 ft.—50 per cent more excavation and concrete or masonry foundations—and the roof would be twice as big.

Other Economies Involved

So the two-story house became a good plan. Other economies involved plumbing, wiring, heating pipes and ducts. If a bathroom were placed over a kitchen, plumbing stacks ran straight up. In a one-story house the bathroom might be far from the kitchen, calling for long plumbing lines.

Then another jump in building costs made room sizes change. You'd look at a plan and instead of finding a room width an even 12 or 14 ft., it might be 11 ft., 4 in. or 13 ft., 4 in. This showed the architect was figuring on standard lengths of lumber to cut waste and labor costs in sawing lumber on the job.

Using a 12-ft. joist allowed 4 inches at each end for its share of walls or partitions, so the room came out 11 ft., 4 in. wide. Since lumber comes in multiples of 2 ft., making a room exactly 12 ft. wide would call for a 14-ft. joist cut down to 12 ft., 8 in., with the sawed-off piece burned as waste.

PEEK AT THE FUTURE—Looking something like Alice in the Wonderland rabbit's house, a bright-eyed youngster peers into a model living room designed by boys and girls of a New York settlement house. The model was one of several presented by the youngsters to the New York Housing Authority as their ideas for the rooms they would like to see built in Baruch Houses, a new housing project in the city.

So these odd measurements became a sign of a good plan.

And people living in houses found all kinds of things they considered wrong about their houses. For instance, a little Cape Cod cottage, lacking a front porch, vestibule or entrance foyer, meant that in rainy or stormy weather people had to step directly into the living room with their dripping clothing. If a house had no outside cellar entrance, ashes and laundry from the basement had to be carried across the kitchen from wherever the cellar stairs were located.

Front door protection and rear service vestibules linking the back door with both kitchen and cellar stairs became signs of a good plan.

Women never seemed to find enough storage space. They demanded more closets. But with building costs climbing to $10 to $15 per square foot, it was expensive to build closets.

How To Fit Screens On Steel Windows

A GREAT many handy men like to make their own window screens and do so without much difficulty until they tackle the problem of making and fitting the screens to the steel casement windows used so extensively in modern homes.

Steel frames with screening are considerably more expensive than wooden windows and the wooden type with the necessary frame for attaching is generally cumbersome, difficult to install and takes up too much window space.

A PRACTICAL solution to the problem is to make a wood frame of one inch square hard wood stock to fit snugly into the steel frame of the basement window. Install a center brace of the same material and secure the screening to the frame. Cover the tacks in the usual way with a strip of moulding and paint the wood the same color as the steel casement and allow to dry.

These screen frames are to be fastened to the steel frames with bolts. The number of bolts of course, depends on the size of the window. The average window used in smaller houses needs only two bolts to hold it securely.

THE HOLES for these bolts center of each end of the screen frame. The size of the holes will depend on the size of the bolts to be used. Quarter-inch is larger than necessary. Get the size bolts you want from your hardware dealer; at the same time get a tap to match for threading the holes in the steel frame.

AFTER THE holes for the bolts have been drilled, hold the wood frame securely in position in the steel frame and punch through into the steel with a large nail. Remove the screen and drill the holes into the steel frame small enough that the tap will make threads to fit the bolts.

Be sure the screens are marked to identify them with the window to which they were fitted and bolt them into place. Dab a little paint on the heads of the bolts and the job is done.

Get Tools Ready For Lawn Repair

A SURPRISING number of spring-care lawn inquiries come daily to the old gardener. This year should permit the home-owner to get going early on his lawn because there is little frost in the ground and other than infestations of snow mold lawns are in pretty good shape.

Some poet once wrote "at the first peep of the crocus or the sound of the woodpecker, it's time to get busy on the lawn."

Do you have the sturdy, sharp-toothed garden rake that you will need to scarify those bare spots? A spading fork is good to open up hard, compact areas. A comb-type rake is handy to clean the lawn. What about a spreader for applying seed and food evenly and without waste?

IF YOU CAN borrow a roller when you return the neighbor's snow shovel, all well and good. If not, you may want to buy one but be sure to get a water ballast type as most others are too heavy.

Unless soil is sandy or gravelly it may be harmed by heavy rolling. A roller is NOT to be used to level a rough lawn—only to firm heaved grass roots back into the soil.

Removal of the fall and winter accumulation of leaves and other debris is one of the first jobs after the ground thaws. At this time patches of dead crabgrass should be raked out. If general feeding and seeding have not been done before, they should be next in sequence.

THE AMOUNT of seed required varies from three to five pounds per 1000 square feet, depending upon thickness of turf and the amount of bare places.

When all the frost is out of the ground, the surface fairly well dried and seeding completed, rolling is in order. A water ballast roller only partly filled avoids packing or puddling the soil. A firming of the surface is all that is desired.

Some lawns need lime no often than every third or fourth year, and a soil test should be made to determine the amount to be applied. The maximum application at one time is five to seven pounds per 100 square feet. Raw, ground agricultural lime is the best form, but if hydrated lime is used, reduce to three to five pounds.

MANY GARDENERS recommend fertilizing the lawn while the ground is frozen, but a later application is all right. The important thing is to put on the proper nutrients to stimulate growth and color, and to force deeper rooting.

Fertilizer is not scarce—but do not apply more than two pounds per 100 square feet. If feeding is late in spring be sure the grass is dry.

Quizzing The Gardener

Q—Is there a summer flowering dogwood for the Northern states?

A—Not to my knowledge. Maybe you have in mind the Mountain Stewartia, a native of Georgia, whose large white flowers appear in early July. With protection it is semi-hardy in Northern Ohio.

Q—What are "ericaceous plants"?—W. P.

A—These are members of the Heath Family. All are woody plants, mostly shrubs like Rhododendrons and Blueberry, or ground cover materials such as Trailing Arbutus and Scotch Heather; while some are trees, with the Madrona Tree and Sourwood as examples.

Treasury Seeks To Halt Anti-Truman Currency

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury said today it wants to suppress the distribution of "novelty" money put out by a Texas firm. A department aide said the bills, which criticize the Truman administration, violate counterfeiting laws.

The bills, six times ordinary size, are called "inflation currencies" with a "milk standard of value." They burlesque current government scandals and inflation and bear a picture of the President labelled "smiling Harry."

The Secret Service said that despite obvious differences, some of the design features of the certificate resemble real dollar bills. A treasury spokesman emphasized today that the department "is not interested in the political aspects. It is interested solely in enforcing the counterfeiting laws."

Three Reported Dead In Riots In Mexico

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The Arizona Republic reported today riots in Oaxaca, Mexico, have caused three deaths and left the city an armed camp.

A special dispatch from a Republic staff member, Morgan Monroe, said 12 persons have been wounded. Monroe and his wife witnessed the rioting.

The secretary of the Oaxaca State Government, Guillermo Candiani, told newsmen in Mexico City that the mobs, "spurred by opposition leaders," had been protesting a new tax law and that, in addition to the demonstration, a general strike had been staged over the weekend.

Ike Thinks Key To Presidency Is Good Aides

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower believes the key to being a successful president lies in the ability to select and handle men.

This view was disclosed in a 1950 "off the record" interview, published today by the Weekly Magazine U.S. News & World Report. With it was a letter from Eisenhower dated March 14, indicating he had reviewed the material recently and approved its publication.

The letter was written after Eisenhower had swept the New Hampshire Republican presidential primary but before the 106,000 write-in vote given him in last Tuesday's Minnesota primary.

In the interview with Editor David Lawrence, Eisenhower said that "experience in handling men may possibly be the key" to White House success. He intimated he has that experience.

In response to a question as to whether it was "essential to your happiness that you become president of the United States," Eisenhower said it wasn't.

"I shall respond to a call of duty, as I have said again and again to those who have talked to me about it," he said. "No citizen has the right to refuse public service if the citizens want him to serve."

Expressing the view that "we have drifted too far to the so-called 'left,'" Ike said "America is not the kind of country that needs socialism."

Patrolman Sworn In, Begins Lisbon Duties

LISBON—John W. Varner, 29, of E. Washington St. was sworn in as a patrolman Saturday by Mayor Wilbur Warren and began work Saturday night.

An Air Force veteran of World War II, he succeeds Kenneth Koffel, who resigned to work at the City Loan. Varner will have the midnight to 8 a.m. shift in place of Patrolman Max Gerwig, who will fill in for officers on their days off and catch extra time on the street department.

Tornado

Truman for funds to help the state rehabilitate itself.

He also thanked the President for his quick action in ordering federal agencies to make a quick check of the damage in all the stricken areas to ascertain the need.

Near Lexington, Tenn., yesterday they buried a family of six, lifted from their homes and hurled 300 yards to death.

The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Genie Duke, their daughter, son-in-law and two grandchildren were found in a neat circle in a field.

At Cotton Plant, Ark., the six children of Antonio Galan, a Mexican farm worker, were buried. The day before all six members of the Albert Ingle family were buried.

At Dierks, funeral services were held for six persons—all related—yesterday. And so it went.

There was an ironic story from Hartselle, Ala., where one of the critically injured was little Brenda Kay Jones, 5. As the storm approached her grandmother picked up Brenda and fled to a neighbor's house.

The neighbor's house was destroyed. The one from which they fled was untouched.

It was the most disastrous weekend of tornado terror since March 18, 1925, when 689 people died in Illinois, Missouri and Indiana.

The storms ripped into Arkansas Friday afternoon and cut a deadly swath from the southwest corner to the northwest tip. Other storms formed in Mississippi and skipped into west Tennessee the same day, reaching a 300 mile per hour velocity.

Royall Improved

NEW YORK (AP)—The condition of former Secretary of War Kenneth C. Royall, who underwent surgery last week at New York Hospital, was described today as "critical but improved."

Royall, 57, underwent an operation last Wednesday for an abscess in a sinus area.

Wall Street Stocks Continue Indecisive Course

NEW YORK (INS)—The stock market fluctuated indecisively today with losses slightly outnumbering gains in the list as a whole.

With Wall Street looking forward to another fortnight of uncertainty while steel industry negotiations were under way to the recommendations made last week by the Wage Stabilization Board, most traders were inclined to play it safe and hold to the sidelines.

Steel issues were conspicuous laggards with U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Jones and Laughlin and Republic in the minus column throughout the forenoon.

Other key stocks to ease fractionally included Westinghouse, Standard Oil of New Jersey and Chrysler.

Texas Pacific Land Trust was an outstanding strong spot with a rise of 3 points, while Northern Natural Gas advanced 3/4 to a new high.

Missouri-Kansas-Texas preferred highlighted the rails with a gain of 1 1/2 points. Union Pacific was up 3/4, but Santa Fe and New York Central were down fractionally.

Volume for the first hour totaled 230,000 shares as against 180,000 on Saturday.

Flood Recedes After Leaving 50 Homeless

TOLEDO (AP) — Water that smashed three summer cabins and left about 50 families homeless flowed back into the Lake Erie today with a shifting wind. Huge waves, driven by a stiff northeast wind, poured into lowlands along Lake Erie over the weekend. The estimated 50 stranded families of Reno Beach and Howard Farms, east of Toledo, still were waiting today for the water to recede from their homes.

The water also forced police to block off several waterfront streets in Sandusky. Some of the lakefront cottages and summer homes there were partly surrounded by water yesterday.

All along the northern Ohio shore the waves smashed small craft, threatened house foundations and left a litter of debris.

In Eastlake, east of Cleveland, 135 families in an area near the Chagrin River mouth were surrounded by a pond of water at least three feet deep in some places.

High School Cage Star Threatened By Bribers

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Unidentified telephone callers tried unsuccessfully to bribe Joe Sexson, Indianapolis Tech high school's star basketball player, and threatened to break his leg, the Indianapolis News said today.

Sexson was guarded by police for ten days, through the final game of the Indiana championship tournament Saturday night, which Tech lost 68-49 to Muncie Central despite 26 points by Sexson.

The News said in a copyrighted story a telephone caller told Sexson to "foul out" of an Indianapolis semifinal game March 15, and asked "what it would take to make enough mistakes to cause Tech to lose the game." Tech won the semifinal title and went on to the final.

In later calls, Sexson was threatened with bodily harm if he did not throw the semifinal game, the News said. The calls were made Sunday, March 9, after Tech won the regional tourney.
